Discover the magic of Maras and

Moray

H A L F D A Y

An unforgettable day

The Sacred Valley of the Incas region, located in the heart of the Peruvian Andes, is home to three must-see tourist destinations: Maras, Moray and the Salineras. These sites captivate visitors with their rich history, natural beauty and stunning Inca architecture. Each place has its own history and unique characteristics that make it special. We will take you on an exciting journey through these three incredible destinations, discovering the secrets of the ancient Inca civilization and marveling at the breathtaking nature that surrounds them. Get ready for an unforgettable experience in Maras, Moray and the Salineras, where history intertwines with the scenic beauty of the Peruvian Andes.

Short itinerary

- Day 01: Maras - Moray - Chincheros

MARAS - MORAY - CHINCHERO

Moray

DAY 01

Cusco - Maras - Moray - Chincheros - Cusco

We will pick you up from your hotel at 8 am and drive to the agricultural laboratory in Moray. This trip takes about 1:20 minutes. On your trip, you will see the snow-capped peaks of the Andes. Then we will arrive at the fascinating terraces of Moray, this has three amphitheater-like terraces, made by the Incas.

When you finish exploring Moray, we will head to the salt mines of Maras. This town is known as an ancient center of salt production and is believed to date back to pre-Inca times. There are over 4000 salt pools carved into the mountainside, which are filled daily by a stream of water. This spectacular area is perfect for you if you want to see something different from the ruins.

Finally we will head to Chinchero, a small Andean village located at 3,762m. above sea level, in Anta, about 30 km from Cusco. Its main tourist attraction is its colorful market, this market is held every Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday, but if your trip is not one of those days, you can visit another smaller textile center that is open every day. Finally, you can visit the famous Roman Catholic church, built over the Inca palace.
